"He directs my steps"

GPS systems guide us, dictionaries guide us, internet guides us, and even radio, TV, and newspapers guide many decisions we make. My deepest heart's concern is to help people to realize that only the guidance that comes from God will give us true direction for life.

My God is the one and only true and living God with whom I walk and talk daily. I believe in His presence that never leaves me and is only a prayer away. I know from experience that He has heard and answered my prayers in the past and that He continues to speak into my life and direct my every step.

A relationship with this real, true God is the only thing that matters in this world. Everything is about HIM and what HE has done. And when a person has an intimate relationship with Him, they understand who He is and everything else around them grows dim in the light of His Glory and Grace.

It is my prayer during this holiday season that my friends and loved ones will know personally the joy of a relationship with God.

Thanks for your prayers and support of me. I am grateful!

Happy Thanksgiving and Merry Christmas from my heart to yours.

JK
